Cross the Line for • Touchdowns.

The U. of O. gridsters, led by Coach Adams and backed by a number of loyal students, journeyed down to Iowa where they handed the Tabor Collegians a thorough beating. The result of the game and the manner in which the University men played was indeed encouraging.

Y. W. C. A. MAKES DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Ruth Arlander, Lucile Bliss, Constance Perley, Madeline Johnston
Principal Officers.

"I have your name on my list," began a business-like looking young lady, as she laid a detaining hand on the arm of a girl hurrying out of class.

She was one of eighteen girls who, under the leadership of Irene Tauchen and Catherine Beal, are canvassing the school for members for the Young Women's Christian Association.

The drive was begun at a meeting of the girls of the school during the assembly hour, October 25. The president introduced the cabinet members, each of whom told of her phase of the organization work.

The officers of the Y. W. C. A. organization are: Ruth Arlander, president; Helen Vancura, vice-president; Constance Perley, treasurer; Madeline Johnston, secretary. The rest of the cabinet is: Elizabeth Westerfield, chairman of the World Fellowship committee; Lucile Bliss, chairman of the program committee; Charlotte Funk, chairman of the room committee; Rheuvilla Blair, chairman of the publicity committee; Eleanor Madgett, chairman of the social committee. Miss Ward and Miss Winters are faculty sponsors.

VARTANIAN TO SPEAK AT C. E. CONVENTION

Mr. Campbell Will Lead Singing at Nebraska Christian Endeavor Meeting.

Dr. V. H. Vartanian of the University of Omaha will be a speaker at the state convention of the Nebraska Christian Endeavor Union, at Hastings, November 2 to 5, the convention program announces. Mr. George W. Campbell, who directs the Boys' Glee Club of the University of Omaha, will lead the singing at the convention.

Dr. Vartanian's chief address will be "Thousands Living Loyal to Him," on Sunday afternoon. Preceding this, he will give talks Friday and Saturday mornings on the subjects of "Living and Serving With Jesus." He will also give four class lectures on the "Life of Christ."

Mr. Campbell, besides having charge of the singing, will lead "One Thousand Stunts" at the Methodist playgrounds, Thursday afternoon.

OH, SKINNY! GONNA BE AT THE CANDY SALE?

'Member, way back w'en you was a kid, how hungry you used to git w'en you come home from school 't about four o'clock? An' d'ye 'member how y' used t' snoop around the kitchen, an' sniff, an' smell, an' peep into ever'thing? Gee, I do.

An don'tcha 'member how good them goodies was that ma baked onct in a while, w'en she happened t' be in a good natured mood?

An' can'tcha 'member how lonesome y' used t' git on them long winter evenin's w'en they wasn't nothin' t' do but set around an' read out of a old book, er play with the cat, er pull sis' pigtailis? An' wot a real relief it was w'en ma got up an' made a lotta taffy, an' poured it out in a lotta pans, an' plates, an' things, an' w'en it was cooled enough, how ya used to like to pull it and make long spirals, an' funny figgers, an' thin threads of yeller sweetness, that jist made yer mouth water clear back to yer windpipe? An' how good it did taste! Y' c'ud jist feel it taste all the way down, till y' wished y' had a neck like a giraffe, so's it c'ud taste fer a longer ways.

Well, that's jist the way you'll feel at the Gateway Candy Sale. Jist like old times, as the bootlegger said in speaking of prohibition. 'Come an' see fer yerself, t'morrer.

PLAYER'S CLUB ADDS TWELVE NEW MEMBERS

Tryouts Held in Gymnasium Oct 23.
Committee Appointed to Select Play.

As a result of the tryouts Monday, October 23, the Player's Club admitted 12 more students to its membership roll. About 21 young word-spouters heeded the announcement of the tryouts and prepared selections for it.

The prospective actors and actresses and the selections each gave are: James Doty, "For Dear Old Yale"; Betty Sowell, a character in "Just Girls"; James Bowie and George Pardee, a scene from "The Finger of God"; Mildred Mullaly, "The Passing of the White Swan"; Gladys Kemp, "A French Student on 'Macbeth'"; Marjorie Crichton, a clipping from "Seventeen"; Merle Jones, "Toussaint L'Ouverture"; Grace Hall, "The Dancing Lesson"; Thelma Burke, "A Bride's First Call on the Butcher"; and Stewart Powers and E. K. Langevin, the prologue from "Turn to the Right."

Dean James, together with the player's club, composed of Rheuvilla Blair, Kenneth Baker, Carl Poppino, Lucile Bliss, Merrill Russell, Marie Pelligrin, and Betty Taylor heard the tryouts in the auditorium and judged the contestants.

The organization is now enabled to begin work on the first play of the season. Lucile Bliss, Marie Pelligrin and Merrill Russell are selecting the first play to be presented this year.

A very ancient coin was kicked out of the ground by a ten-year-old boy at Menford, England. The lad's toe came in contact with a battered and rusted silver match case, the lid being missing. When he lifted the case the boy noticed another shiny substance and picked up a silver coin the size of a ten-cent piece. On one side was the impress of a queen's head and on the other side the figures "1572." Apparently the coin is 350 years old.

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY WILL BE ORGANIZED

Biology Department Head Enthusiastic
Over Present Plans.

A meeting of Pre-Medics was held Wednesday, Oct. 25, in order to discuss plans for organizing a scientific society in the university. Due to the small representation present, it was decided to postpone taking any definite steps towards organizing until the next meeting, which will be held Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 12:30 in the biology laboratory. It is the desire of the pre-medics to organize a society whereby those interested in scientific pursuits might get together and carry on research work on different phases of biology; also to arrange for a series of lectures of interest to the student.

Miss Winters, head of the biology department, is very enthusiastic over the proposed plan and is anxious that the organization be a success. Don't forget the date for the next meeting. Come out and BOOST for a LIVE, PEPPY SOCIETY.

CHAPEL ATTENDANCE EXPECTED--DR. JENKINS

President Says Assembly as Tradition of School Should Be Observed.

Dr. Daniel E. Jenkins, president of the University of Omaha, addressed the student body on the subject of assembly attendance, at the assembly hour, October 30.

Dr. Jenkins emphasized the fact that chapel attendance was a tradition of the school, and explained the attitude of the institution regarding it, that students are not compelled to attend chapel, but are expected to do it. He added that students who continually ignored these traditions would be considered undesirable at the school.

His speech was the explanation of several changes in chapel services and attendance that the chapel committee intends to inaugurate soon. The changes are expected to make the assembly hour a much more vital part of the student's school life, Dr. Vartanian, chairman of the committee, stated.

"All students would do well to come to chapel," said Dr. Vartanian, "not only for the good of the school, but for their own individual benefit. It is important to them from the social as well as the religious side."

BOOSTER CLUB MEETS.

Big Campaign Now on to Add Every Fellow to Membership.

Last Wednesday the Y. Booster club inaugurated the liveliest and biggest membership campaign that has ever been staged by any organization of the school. The various officers and committee chairmen gave short talks outlining the plans they have formulated for the club for the coming year. Among the speakers were: Leonard Stromberg, the president, Ken Baker, vice-president, Benjamin Mead, commonly known as "Benny," the secretary-exchequer, Elmer Larson, the publicity man, George Pardee, chairman of the speakers' committee, Dave Robel, the social committee chairman, and Dr. Vartanian, the faculty advisor.

The meeting was marked by good fellowship and bounteous enthusiasm.

ATHLETES WILL HOLD CARNIVAL

David Abbott, Keno Quartette,
Popularity Contest,
Features.

The biggest social event ever promoted in the university is scheduled for next Friday night, November 3. A carnival, with all the trimmings, is going to be staged for the benefit of the fellows who are fighting for the school on the gridiron and on the basketball floor.

Sideshows, popularity contests, movies, dancing, eats, and singing are a few of the features of the evening's program. Entertainers and shows of a quality far surpassing anything ever before brought to the school are set to give everybody a real "Fun Day." The Keno Quartette, featured performers at the World Theater, Slippery Gulch, and many other high class attractions, are billed to fill the harmony end of the entertainment. Gene Maxwell, a star on last year's teams, is a member of the quartette.

Spiritualist to Entertain.
Mr. David Abbott, a world renowned authority on the mysteries, embodied in the magical and spiritual world, and a resident of Omaha, has promised to bring his famous talking kettle to the scene of activities. This wonderful kettle has been the marvel of the scientific world ever since its invention by Mr. Abbott. Alexander, Thurston, and practically all the great magicians have at one time or another tried to solve its mysteries, and failing, have tried to buy the secret from the inventor, who holds the key from everyone. On Friday night, the kettle will answer, individually, all questions asked it, no matter what they may be.

A popularity contest, with Betty Sowell and Thelma Burke as the contestants, will be held, the winner receiving an appropriate prize.

"Eats Will Be Et."
Eating booths and prize games will be open all evening. Dancing will occupy a part of the time, the music being furnished by a real good jazz orchestra. Candy will be sold on the floor. A feature moving picture will be shown during the earlier part of the show. A clog dancer will put on an exhibition of freak dancing. These and many other attractions are to be staged, so that the whole event will prove the greatest success of anything of its kind that has ever been attempted.

Cause Worthy of Support.
The whole thing is for the benefit of the athletes. Sweaters, blankets, and good equipment will be purchased with the proceeds. A more worthy cause cannot be found, and this carnival is surely deserving of the support of everyone. The quality of the show and its incentive should bring the students out in a body.

The committee in charge of the affair is as follows: Paul Konecky, games and sideshows; Ken Baker, tickets; Merrill Russell, program. Every athlete will be on the floor in an Omaha Sweater, and each one will have charge of a certain part of the program.

It is not necessary to call the attention of the readers of the Gateway to the issue of last week. It spoke for itself. Such a reduction in headlines was made necessary by the program of strict economy to which the administration must adhere in publishing the paper. In the present issue, large headlines have again been made possible by the use of regulation newspaper type, which is set by machine at a small fraction of the cost of the hand-set headlines which have been used in the past.

We are endeavoring to make the Gateway a real newspaper from every standpoint; we want to make it look like a newspaper, read like a newspaper, and to fulfill the mission which a newspaper should have—that of serving those who support it. Whole-hearted support from every student in the University of Omaha can greatly assist the Gateway in fulfilling that mission.

Booster Club

The Booster Club, judging from the opening activities, is now in the hands of a very competent administration. The Gateway wishes to pledge its whole-hearted support to a movement which promises so much to contribute to school spirit and the unification of the various factions in the University.

Candy Sale

Boys, the girls have done their part. They are prepared to deliver into your hands the most delectable condiments which modern culinary science has produced. You are absolutely assured of receiving a genuine treat if you patronize the big Gateway Candy Sale. Be there with your friends, help the paper along, contribute to school activities, and enjoy yourselves like good fellows.

When you buy anything from one of our advertisers, tell them you saw their ad in the Gateway. Let them know that advertising in our paper is "good business."

The Path of Destiny

The University of Omaha has a great future; there can be no question on that point. Situated as it is "in the midst of the people," and in the most progressive city in the middle west, it must some day become an internationally known institution. Storms may come and rock it to its foundations; obstacles apparently insurmountable may rise up in the path to greatness—but it cannot fall. It is founded upon a rock.

That means a lot to us—if we live up to our responsibilities. If we take part in the work of the school, ever boosting, ever pushing, ever helping, generation after generation of students, who shall partake of the benefits of that greater school which shall rise above this, will honor us all for the work which we did that they might enjoy those benefits.

Let us begin now, fellow students, to re-dedicate ourselves to the task at hand. Let us take upon our shoulders the responsibility of helping to make this the great institution which it is destined to be.

How about that advertising you were going to get for the Gateway. Don't forget; we need it badly.

Under Suspicion.

"How long had he lived a life of crime?"

"Only one year, he told the court. For six years previous to that time he was a taxicab driver."

"Umph! That means seven years of crime in all."

Sufficient Excuse.

"I've just heard the news," interestedly said an acquaintance. "Why do you suppose John Schott killed his hired man?"

"D'know," replied the gaunt Missourian, "unless it was b'cuz he acted like a hired man."

Personal Charm Absent.

Fair Aspirant (with manuscript)—Do please let me read my story to you.

Publisher—Don't trouble, my dear young lady, my reader will see it.

Truth vs. Poetry.

"They say he fell at her feet the first time he ever saw her."
"No, that's the poetic version. The fact is he fell over them."

The new servant had presented her references, and the lady of the house read them over with a doubtful eye.

"I'm not quite satisfied with these, Bridget," she said.

Confidence.

"You know this movie didn't cost $1,000,000."

"I'm not prepared to argue that question," replied the eminent producer.

"But—"

"Say no more. My publicity director says it cost that much, and I'm the last person in the world to doubt his veracity."

Vicious Exertion.

"Are you still taking exercise to music?"

"No," said Dubwaite, "I'm taking it by proxy."

"How's that?"

"I sit in a cabaret and watch the leader of a jazz orchestra call on the saxophone players."

Ma Butts In.

"Pa, what do they mean by going from the sublime to the ridiculous?" asked Clarence.

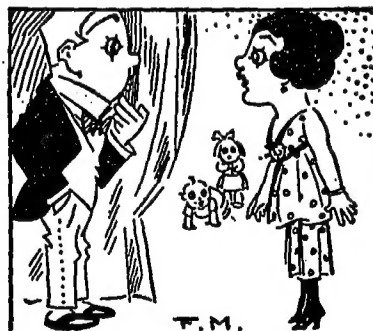

"It means a girl dreams of marrying some wonderful prince and then goes and ties herself up to a boob like your father," snapped ma.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Spoiling His Plans.

Green (new to country life)—Where are those duck eggs I brought home yesterday?

Mrs. Green—I put them under the hen.

Green—Under the hen? Good heavens! And I wanted to hatch out ducks from those eggs.

THE HICKY HOP.

It was eight o'clock in Glenwood Town, the shades of night were falling down. Eight stranded couples enroute from the game were in search of amusement—all wanted the same. Pacific Junction was five miles near, the night was dark but the road was clear; the Chalmers was loaded—no more could it hold, the wind was sharp and the moon was cold. In more than ten minutes and less than twenty the gang hit the Junction and fun there was plenty; the dance hall was sighted some rods to the west, and the gang all poured in with jokes and with jest. The musicians played—there were only four, the fiddle, guitar, piano—no more; an old granny tickled the ivories with glee; she was some chicken—but past 83. All kinds of people—farmers galore, all stumbling over the rickety floor. The U. of O. gang giggled with a fit, they laughed and hee-hawed till their sides nearly split. Two of the Uni gang helped entertain, but the goofy farmers yelled, "They're insane." The hour grew late—near half past ten, when a sweet voice pelted, "Home again." The Chalmers was started, the cut-out roared, while the sleepy gang in it laughed and snored. The lights of the Junction disappeared from view. The bright stars shone and the cold wind blew. The hop was over—the hopsters were tired, the orchestra quit playing to save being fired. All the way home, the gang, filled with surprise, with hoarse throats and harmony sang, "Baby Blue Eyes."—Robel.

GHOSTS HAUNT OUR PEACEFUL LIBRARY

Peculiar Sounds Pervade the Atmosphere of the Study Hall.

Is there a ghost that is haunting the University of Omaha? Has the soul of some over-worked student returned to vex the present with the past?

Mild confusion reigned in the library—that sound that is a composite of many subdued voices. Suddenly there came silence so complete it could be felt. Through the room had sounded three solemn taps. Students craned their necks, and then began studying busily. Presently the whispering was resumed.

Then again, three taps. And silence. But, the audience commands, bring on the ghost. Or, at least, show us his chain. We obey. For, know ye, the ghost has been found. It is not an overworked student—such an one would be too dead even for a ghost. It is an ever-sharp pencil, a rather obstinate pencil, a pencil that must be tapped upon the table to make it disgorge its lead.

All bells have a different chime, it is true. We are wondering what kind of a noise Mrs. Johnson expected in rhetoric the other day. The class was conjugating verbs. Mrs. Johnson, speaking to the next student to conjugate, said: "Ring, Mr. Bell."

Perry Borcharding led the assembly in humming the fact that there was a long, long trail a-winding. It was the longest that some of us girls had ever kept our mouths shut at one time.

Sometimes 'tis nicer to sleep than to recite in class. At least, one prominent masculine member of the University believes so, for he slept during one of his classes last week and woke only a few moments before the bell.

Many of the Junior girls whether rightfully or not are complaining against their lot. They voice serious objections to the boys who attend Omaha Uni. Perhaps it is because their particular choices do not happen to pay any attention to them. However, this opinion was vociferously stated by a certain Junior girl, "all the boys who go out here are either cake-eaters or rough-necks. The only nice boys there are won't even look at a girl."

Any boy taking this as an insult or a challenge is requested to hand in this article signed to the Comptroller of Complaints.

What is the matter with the girls anyway? They do not know a good thing when they see it. At least they failed to take advantage of their opportunity—all except one little Miss who is commonly seen in a periwinkle suit (for the benefit of the uninitiated sex, periwinkle is no relation to Winnie Winkle the Bread Winner, but is merely a shade of lavender). Now the young law student—for such his name implies, and the afore-mentioned girl seem to enjoy each others company very much indeed. This young man, unlike his great uncle, the Admiral, who defeated the Spanish fleet at Manila is not trying to defeat any enemy but the goddess Diana.

Several girls were worrying seriously last week over the nonappearance of a little, black haired girl with considerable dramatic ability. She hinted that maybe she wouldn't be back to school anymore because "he" was coming to visit her, and perhaps she would end her single blessedness. What sighs of relief were uttered when she appeared a day later with third finger still intact. She proceeded to inform her many friends that she absolutely could not find a single one of her university friends to stand up with her, and so—well, what could she do?

Good-looking, a football star, a fine fellow, and a woman-hater, to all appearances, —but is he really losing his heart to a brown-haired little girl from the South? Well, they seem to have nothing to do in the afternoons except chat, and you never can tell!

What is the shape of your head? Does it look like a question mark or a coconut? Two bumps on the forehead indicates unusual powers of recuperation—since those who have those bumps got them from falling in their youth. A high sloping forehead confirms the knowledge you try to conceal of your relation to the South Sea natives. If you part your hair in the middle it indicates that your thoughts are evenly divided—one half runs toward your personal looks, the other toward the girls. A wrinkled forehead shows that your mental powers are below the standard.

The girls remark frequently that they are glad that the official bump readers or phrenologists can have nothing on them because their hair conceals the shape of their heads.

HINTS FOR THE BEAUTIFUL. BY SHEBA.

Suggestion from Baby Marie Roach.

Folks have been admiring the beautiful curly locks of this pretty maid, and wondering how she gets the curls to stay so prettily. For the benefit of those who are desirous of beautifying their already beautiful locks, we have interviewed our "Lillian Russell" to have her reveal the secret.

Proceed in the following manner: Take an ordinary coffee can and punch a hole in the center of the bottom of it. Discard the cover of the can and put the can bottom side up over a lighted burner. Place two medium sized curling irons (please do not trouble Marie for her's) through the hole in the can, so that the irons are kept suspended above the flame—not in the flame. Regulate the flame so that the irons do not become too hot or get too cold. Proceed to curl your hair in the usual way, first using one iron and then the other. Curl it up, or, if you wish, turn it under, according to your own likes. Throughout the process it is necessary to keep the heat of the irons well regulated, otherwise one will either scorch the hair, or because of the lack of heat, the curls will not be satisfactory.

The curls will stay for one week if proper care is taken not to wet them.

Because so many requests have been made for instructions, Marie Roach has promised a free demonstration.

Next week we will publish: "YOUTH—HOW ACQUIRED AND RETAINED."

OUR FACULTY.

Among our illustrious faculty members, we are very fortunate in having a versatile young woman who is with us this year for the first time.

Because her tour of Canada was not quite completed, she was unable to meet her classes at the opening of the school term.

After the thrill of sight-seeing was over, our rhetoric and literature teacher was quite content to settle down to the more prosaic life of teaching and scattering little seeds of intellectuality among the hard-working, persevering students.

Every day, promptly at eight, this tall young daughter of one of the school board members, alights from her high-powered limousine, heavily laden with books, pencils, note-books, and one small son.

Besides being an efficient teacher, and, from the appearance of the little boy, an efficient mother, she is also a very competent physical culture director and basketball coach.

Her charming personality, her lasting patience and keen humor make her classes a delight and the boresome rhetoric becomes a pleasure.

A lighthouse keeper in Hawaii recently brought in a mass of strange substance which he had found floating in the water. It turned out to be 80 pounds of ambergris, worth nearly $50,000.

WHO'S WHO ON THE TEAM

Flyn Good Man.

Bill Flyn, our new tackle, has been showing up well at his new position. Bill is an experienced man and a fighter. His presence is going to better the team to a great extent.

Basketball Captain Returns.

Paul Davis, who is attending law school, is doing his part on the football team. He showed up well at the Tabor game, and a great deal of credit can be given to him for the fine score the U. of O. made. He will be needed in the Trinity game when we expect to clean up the lads from Sioux City. Paul is the captain of our coming basketball team. Last year his work was of such a nature that the fellows honored him with the captaincy. We believe he will lead us through another victorious year.

Ex-Captain on Quint.

Leonard Stromberg, leader of last year's unbeaten hoopsters, will be with us again. Strom plays a style of ball that is hard to beat. He kept our opponents from making many a basket, and we know he will do the same this year.

Konecky Back Minus "Poiple Joisey."

Paul will be with us this year, too. His ready wit will help to keep the team in good humor. Last year he was the joke of the crowd until he lost his "Poiple Joisey" which he had brought with him from New York. However, he has substituted another for it and is anxious to display his shapely form.

Pressly to Re-enlist.

We all know Pressly and what he can do. He's working hard now and saving money so he can attend school later on. He will register, it is rumored, sometime before basketball season. We're all glad that "Mo" will be with us again.

ON THE GRIDIRON

LOTS OF MATERIAL FOR UNI CAGE TEAM

Students of the U. of O. cannot help seeing that we are out for one of our biggest basketball seasons. We have the largest number of prospects that has ever been at our university. The first call for hoopsters will probably be made about the sixth of November, when the gymnasium will be cleared for action. We are fortunate in having many of our last year's men back. Stromberg, captain of last year's victorious squad, will be on deck. Davis, this year's captain, is here feeling fine. Pressly will soon enter the university, where he will find his old station waiting for him. Konecky, Russell and Hunter will be in suits with the first ones. Wade Reeves will be with us again. We welcome him back. Wilmarth, Everson, Hadley and Kastman will also be out.

Konecky, who made a good showing. Hesler made a number of long gains and scored a touchdown by making a brilliant end run, and once receiving a pass from Ackerman raced through the Tabor team for his second tally. Poucher at fullback gained many yards and grounded most of Tabor's attempted forward passes. Davis and Pettingill broke repeatedly through the line for long gains. "Davy" got away once and crossed the line for a tally.

Time after time Chesneau and Kastman caught the Tabor runner, about to hit the line. McKee and Flynn broke through the line and downed every attempt to gain through their positions. It was common to see Chesneau, Kastman, Flynn or McKee break the Iowans' defense and throw the backs for a big loss. Russell showed up well at left end, not a single gain being made around his end. He was in the scrimmage at every play. Erickson played consistently and was in the fight at all times. U. of O. (36) Position .. Tabor (0)
Russell LE Weatherhead
McKee LT Bell
Chesneau LG Martin
Erickson C Cheney
Kastman RG Howard
Flynn RT Jones
P. Konecky RE Pratt

MAROON MEN PLAY TRINITY THURSDAY

Real Battle Promised by Warriors of University of Omaha at Creighton Field.

Fall in line—Pep up—Get in style!!
From now until Nov. 2, school spirit will be working up to a climax. Probably the most interesting game of the season will be with Trinity at Creighton field next Thursday.

Trinity will be here feeling confident of victory. We cannot say that they do not have grounds for their boasting, when we remember our defeat at Trinity. The score was 26 to 3 and Trinity had us outclassed from start to finish.

The question now is: Have we improved enough to defeat Trinity on familiar grounds? We will have our student body to back the team and we hope we can show Trinity a class of football that will send them back feeling blue.

We're out to beat Trinity. The U. of O. must beat Trinity, and you must help. You cannot afford to miss this game, since it is one of the two home games.

Coach Adams is working his men into shape for Trinity. Every effort will be made to get Sioux City's goat. The whole town will be out to see the game. Be there and put the U. of O. on the map.

Boost—Pep up—Be at the game on Thursday, November 2, 1922.

New prospects are Hesler, McKee, Shallcross, Leo Konecky, Chesneau, Ackerman, Pettingill, Bradshaw and Anderson.

With this supply of material and with the old spirit already going, there is no reason why we cannot have a team that will equal last year's team, —a team that will put our university on the map.

Schedule Under Way.

Games are already being scheduled. This year we will play a higher class of schools than we have in the past. We have correspondence from a number of schools, and hope to fill our schedule soon. The schools are: Iowa Wesleyan, Lombard, Knox, Parsons, Davenport Iowa, Cole, Cornell, Colorado Aggies, Colorado Uni, Colorado School of Engineering, Wyoming State Aggies, and Des Moines. A challenge will probably be given to Creighton.

SHOW UP HIGH SCHOOL.

Hard scrimmage was the order for last week in preparing for Trinity. Every man is pulling through in fine shape and is out to win.

The Maroons had the High School eleven standing on its head in a futile attempt to diagnose the quick, snappy formations and trick plays that Adam's men executed.

Our friend Chesneau was heard to remark in Physics class the other day to one of his fellow physicists: You're so wise that you think light was an English King."

Such Is Fame.

A famous bishop was waiting for his train in an out-of-the-way village when he saw a stranger eyeing him askance. Fearing he might be cutting a slight acquaintance, the bishop nodded to the man. "Excuse me, mister," said the possible acquaintance, "but I think I seen your picture in the paper once or twice." "Very probably," answered the bishop. "Kin I ask," the stranger inquired respectfully, "what wuz you cured of?"
